MEMORIAL HIGH SCHOOL
TULSA, OKLAHOMA 1963

MEMORIAL SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL

Dedicated to Tulsa Students and Teachers who Served in World Wars I, II and the Korean Conflict.

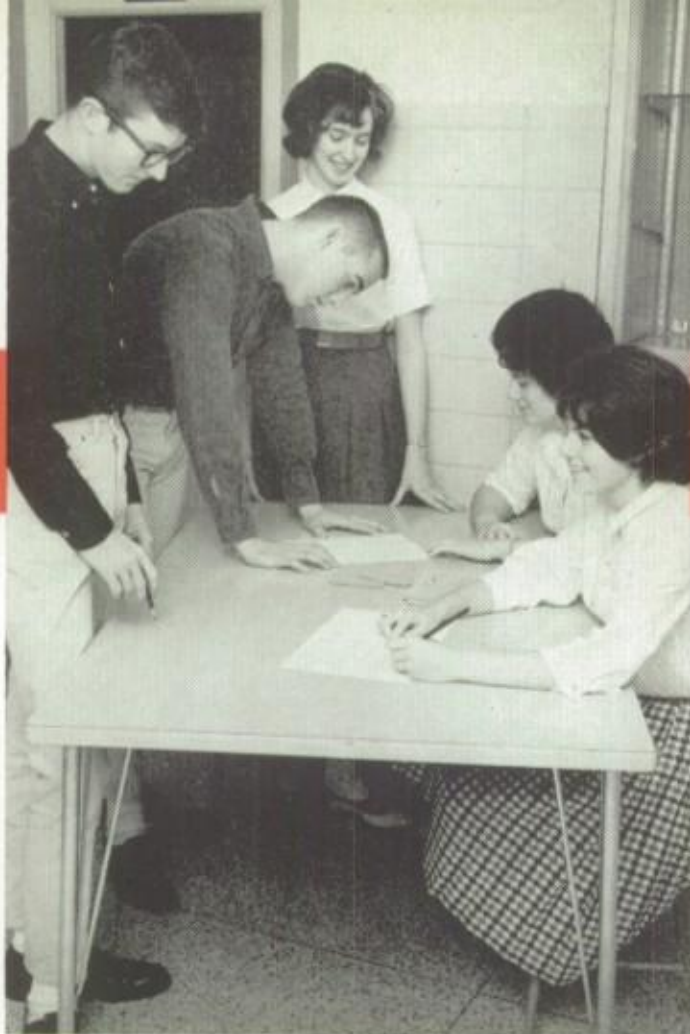

I am dedicated in memory of all Tulsa students and teachers who, in complete devotion, determined that those ideals which built our Republic shall remain forever secure.

My high purpose is to teach an abiding love for America which shall serve her at all times — and, should destiny so determine, a love which will courageously serve her to “the last full measure of devotion” that the dignity of man may be always held in esteem.

I am a perpetual light to all who cherish freedom.

As long as youth shall devote themselves to serious endeavor in my classrooms and fill my corridors with laughter, I stand as a living symbol for all who seek a better life through education.

Juniors enroll for their first year at Memorial.

T

APS I symbolizes the conclusion of a rewarding year. This year will be recalled as one of "firsts" — the first administration, the first student body, the first organizations . . . Our achievements of this first year will endure as foundations of Tulsa's newest high school.

JOE MILLER

THE PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

The truly great person is the one who does a thing for the first time. The distance is really nothing it is merely the first step which counts.

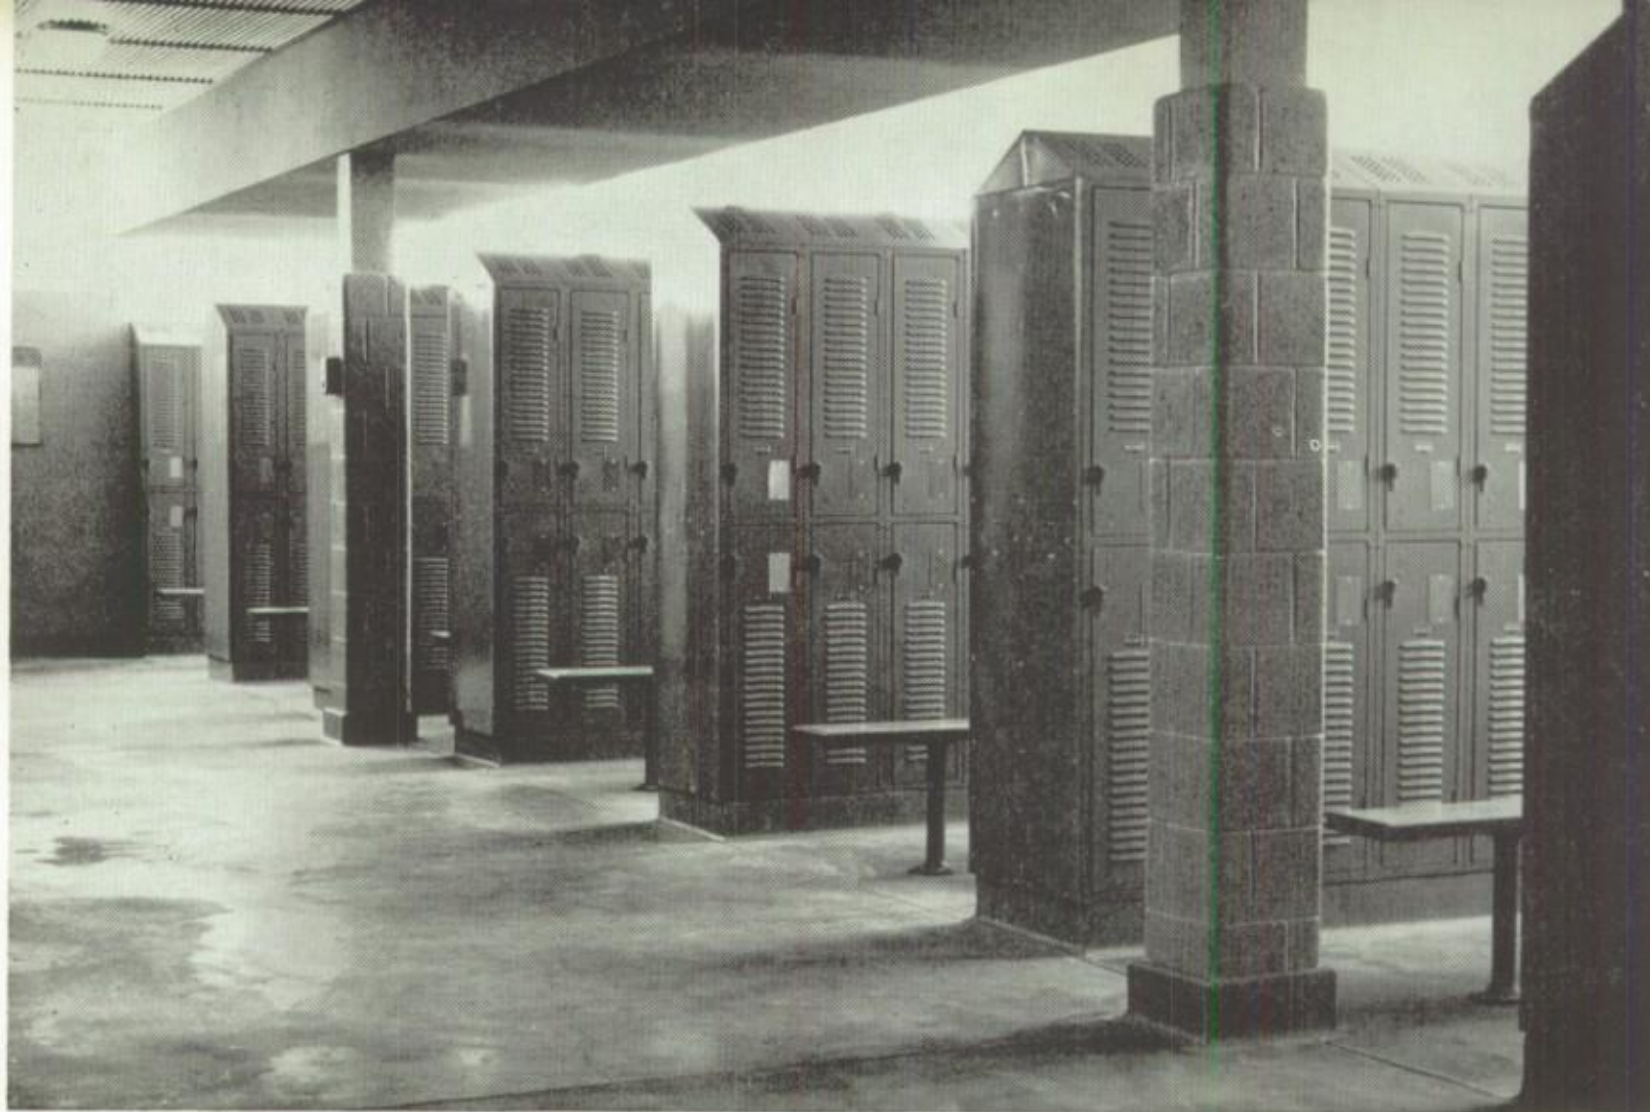

We have made that first step at Memorial High School this year, our success hereafter depends largely upon the way we think and the philosophy that governs our thoughts.

We are as a vast machine of wonderful delicacy and intricacy. A machine that is like the tools of a master craftsman put in our hands. A machine, in its external fabric, so massive and so exquisitely adjusted to human needs, and in its internal fabric producing new avenues and categories of thought, new ways of thinking about life. From these thoughts emerge the processes by which human ends are ultimately answered.

GEORGE McKINNEY
Principal

Students scatter for the last bell.

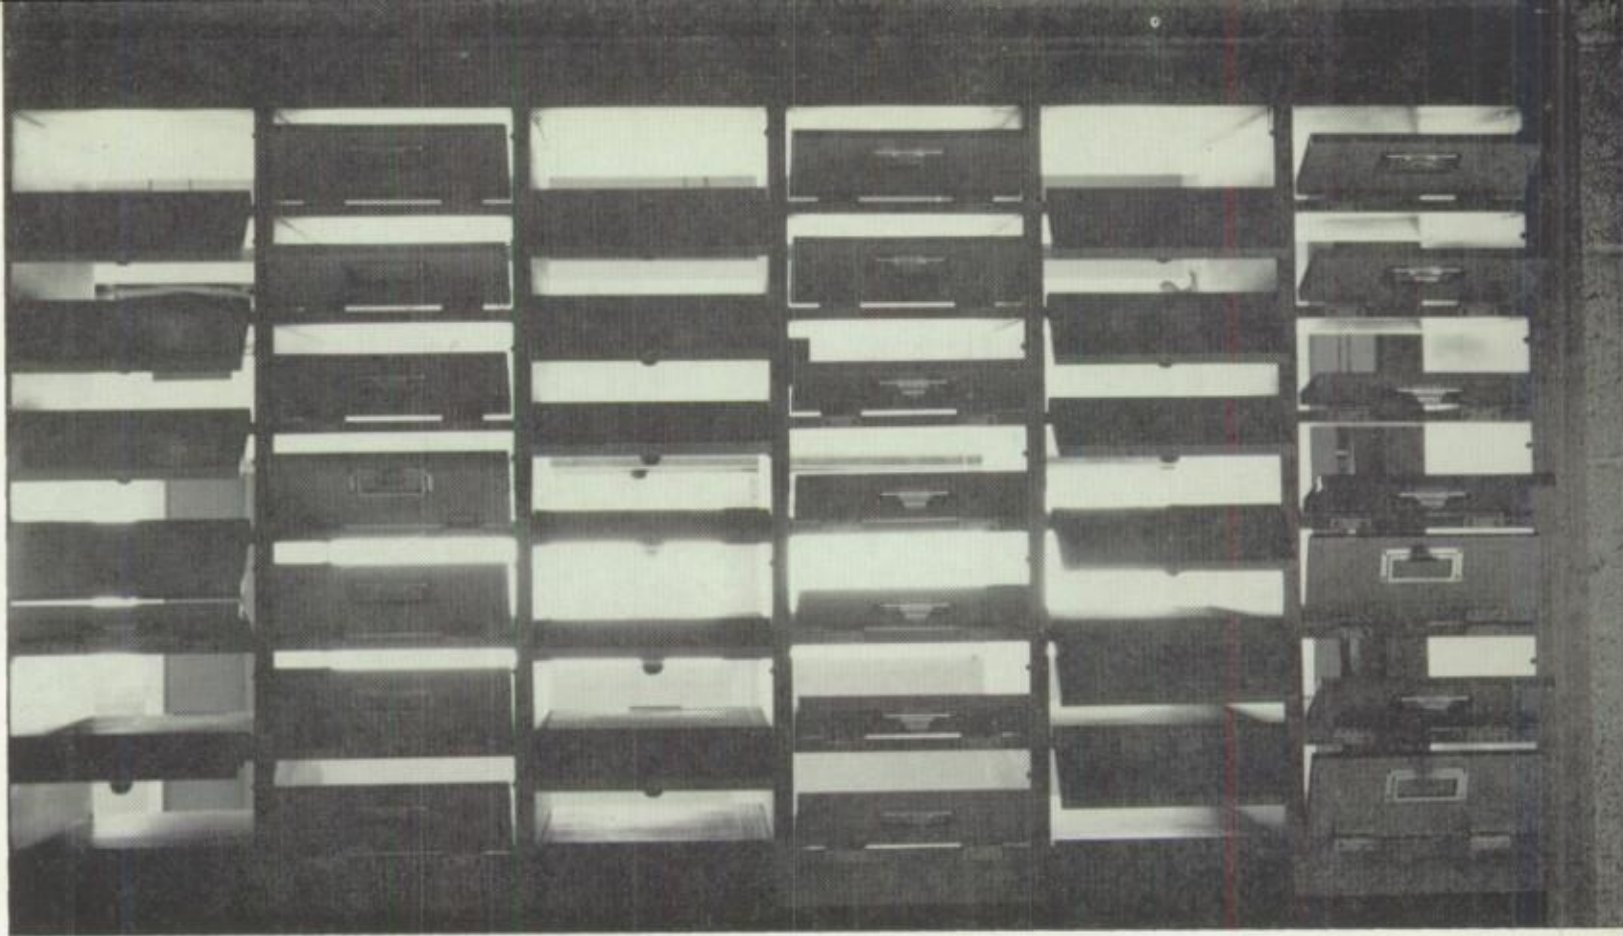

Personality is missing from the boy's never-used locker room.

M emorial was just a building — a strong, beautiful, new one to be sure, but still only an empty shell awaiting the addition of that final, all-important ingredient which would make it complete. It lacked the life which only students could give — the life which indeed, you, the first students of Memorial, have given to make your school a living, breathing place in which to learn and grow.

Locker room comes to life with the advent of Memorial's athletics.

Idle center of communications awaits its new faculty.

Memorial's office becomes a hub of activity with the opening of school.

To you, the students of Memorial senior high school, I offer hearty congratulations.

Opening a new school is a difficult task — for administrators, teachers, and the numerous other people involved in planning the physical plant itself and the instructional program to be offered. Such a venture also places a great responsibility on the student body — that of building wholesome school spirit, helping to set and maintain high academic standards, and developing high regard for scholastic excellence.

These are important in that they are contributions toward realization of the primary purpose of public education in this country — the perpetuation of the American Way of Life.

CHARLES C. MASON
Superintendent of Schools
December 5, 1962

Memorial's first administrative staff: Paul McCloud, assistant principal; George McKinney, principal; Bill McMichael, dean of boys; Erskine Stanberry, dean of girls.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Dr. Charles C. Mason, superintendent; Mrs. Virgil O. Wood; Mr. Fenelon Boesche; Mr. H. G. Barnett; Mr. Wm. L. Butler, president; Mrs. J. Littleton Daniel, vice-president; Mr. Carl C. Beesley; Mr. Villard Martin; and Mr. Claud Rosenstein, attorney.

F

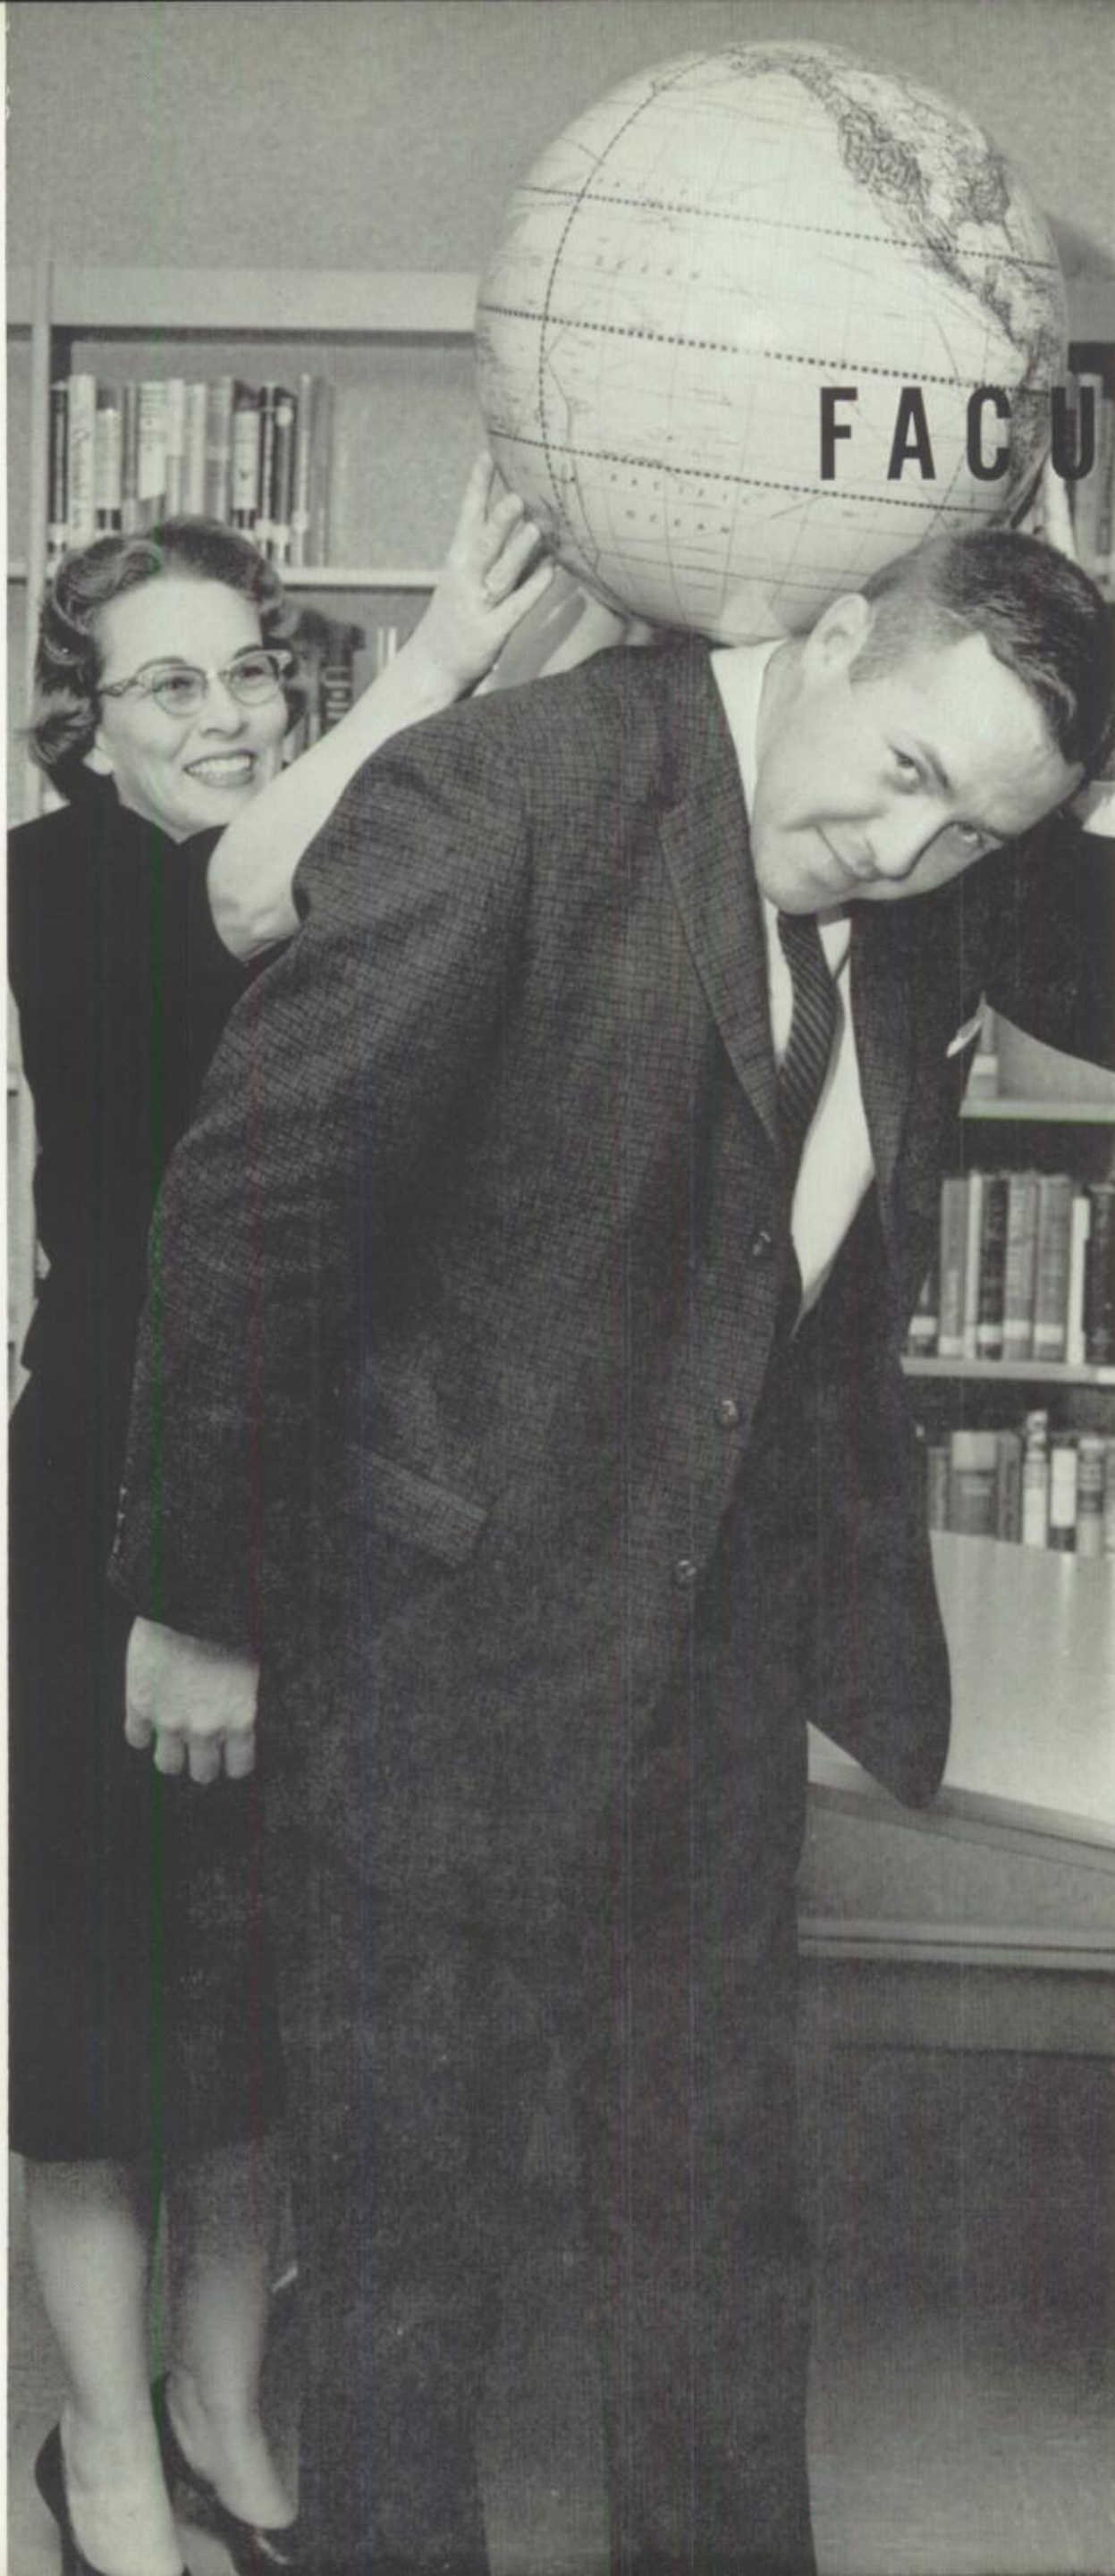

irmly founded Alma Mater
Ever true we'll be.
Here within your halls of learning
Pledge we loyalty.
We'll sing your praises,
Speed them onward,
To the world proclaim
That we'll always shield and cherish
Memorial High School's name.

All along the road of life
We will march with pride;
Hold aloft the torch of honor
Flung to us by those who died.
And as you stand in living memory,
We will spread your fame.
For we'll always shield and cherish
Memorial High School's name.

STUDENT LIFE

Jackie Barrett, Jeanne Gambrell and Janie McCorkle have the opportunity to develop their creative instincts in their Basic Art class.

Art Classes Spark Imagination

Among many other activities in his Art Class, Jim Boydston enjoys sculpting with wire.

Language Students Enjoy Lab

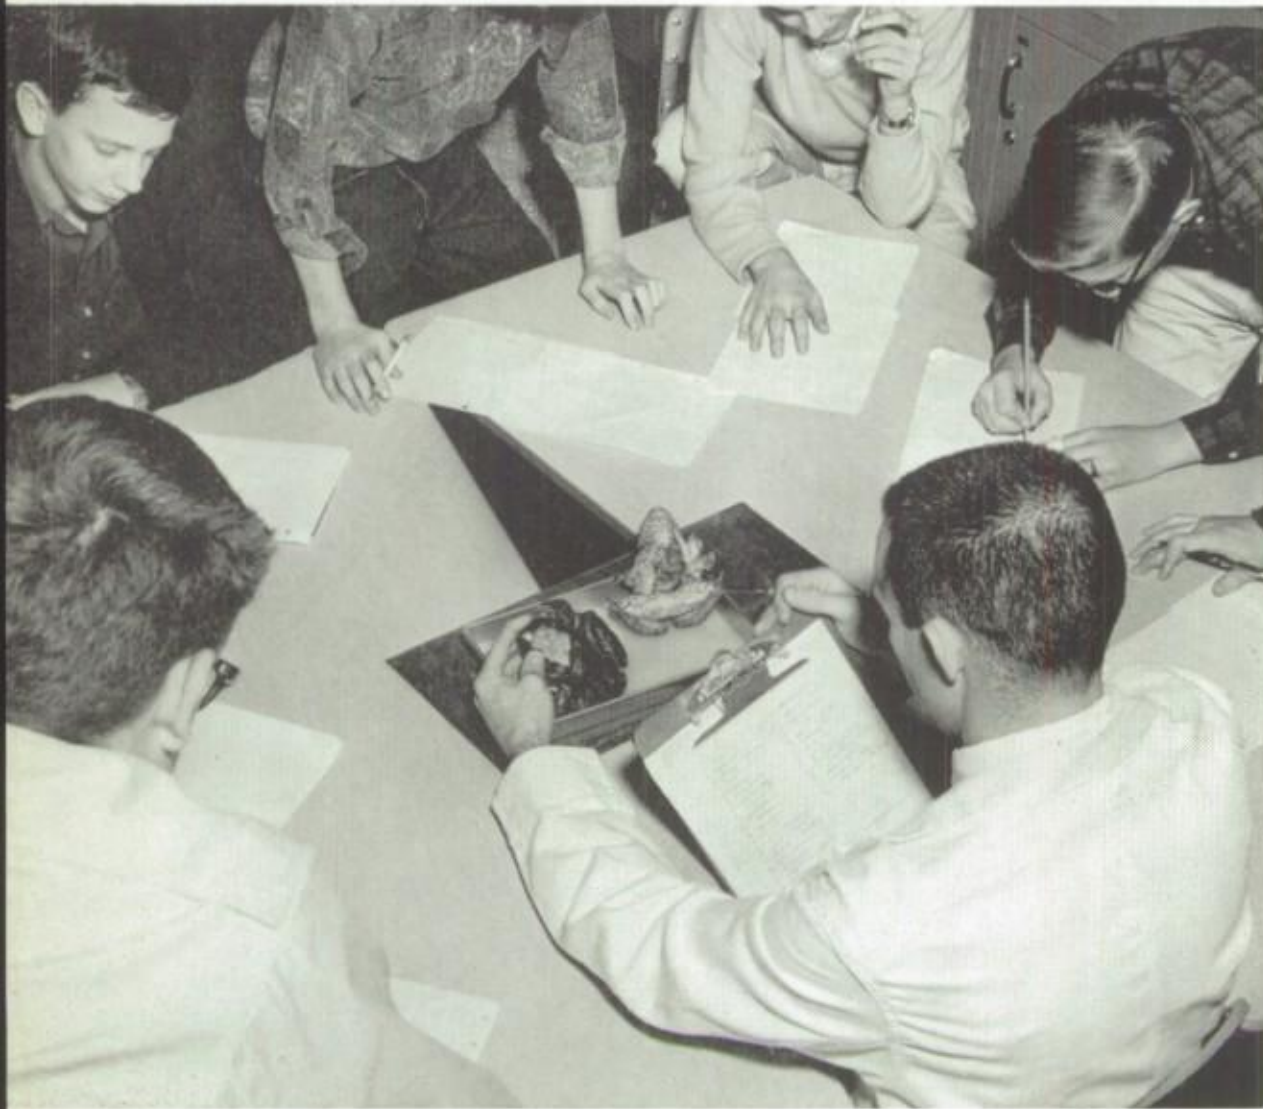

"Pilot to co-pilot," signals Beverly Bell.

Brenda Kennedy, Linda Fielder, Steve Stroud and Bobby Best are among the many students who benefit from frequent trips to the language laboratory.

Science Challenges Inquisitive Minds

Rob Cowan, Larry Walker, Mike Tibbens, Jim Nelson and Freddy Frog watch Phenomenal Phil with his phlexible phalanges; he is well known for his cutting action in Biology lab.

Nancy Nelson, Eddie Engel and Judy Robertson examine the internal organs of Herman in Physiology class.

Nancy Ketchum and Suzie Holt brew something in Chemistry.

Gayle Davis, Janna Jolly and Jenna Rainey cook tasty tidbits in homemaking kitchen.

Domestic Arts Train Homemakers-to-be

Linda Spann, Phyllis Yadon and Mardana Moss keep their clothing class in stitches.

Vocational Courses Improve Skills

Mr. Lyle offers guidance to Jim Woodfin and Greg Burton in their drafting class.

Robert Pappano receives advice from his Industrial Design teacher, Mrs. Johnston.

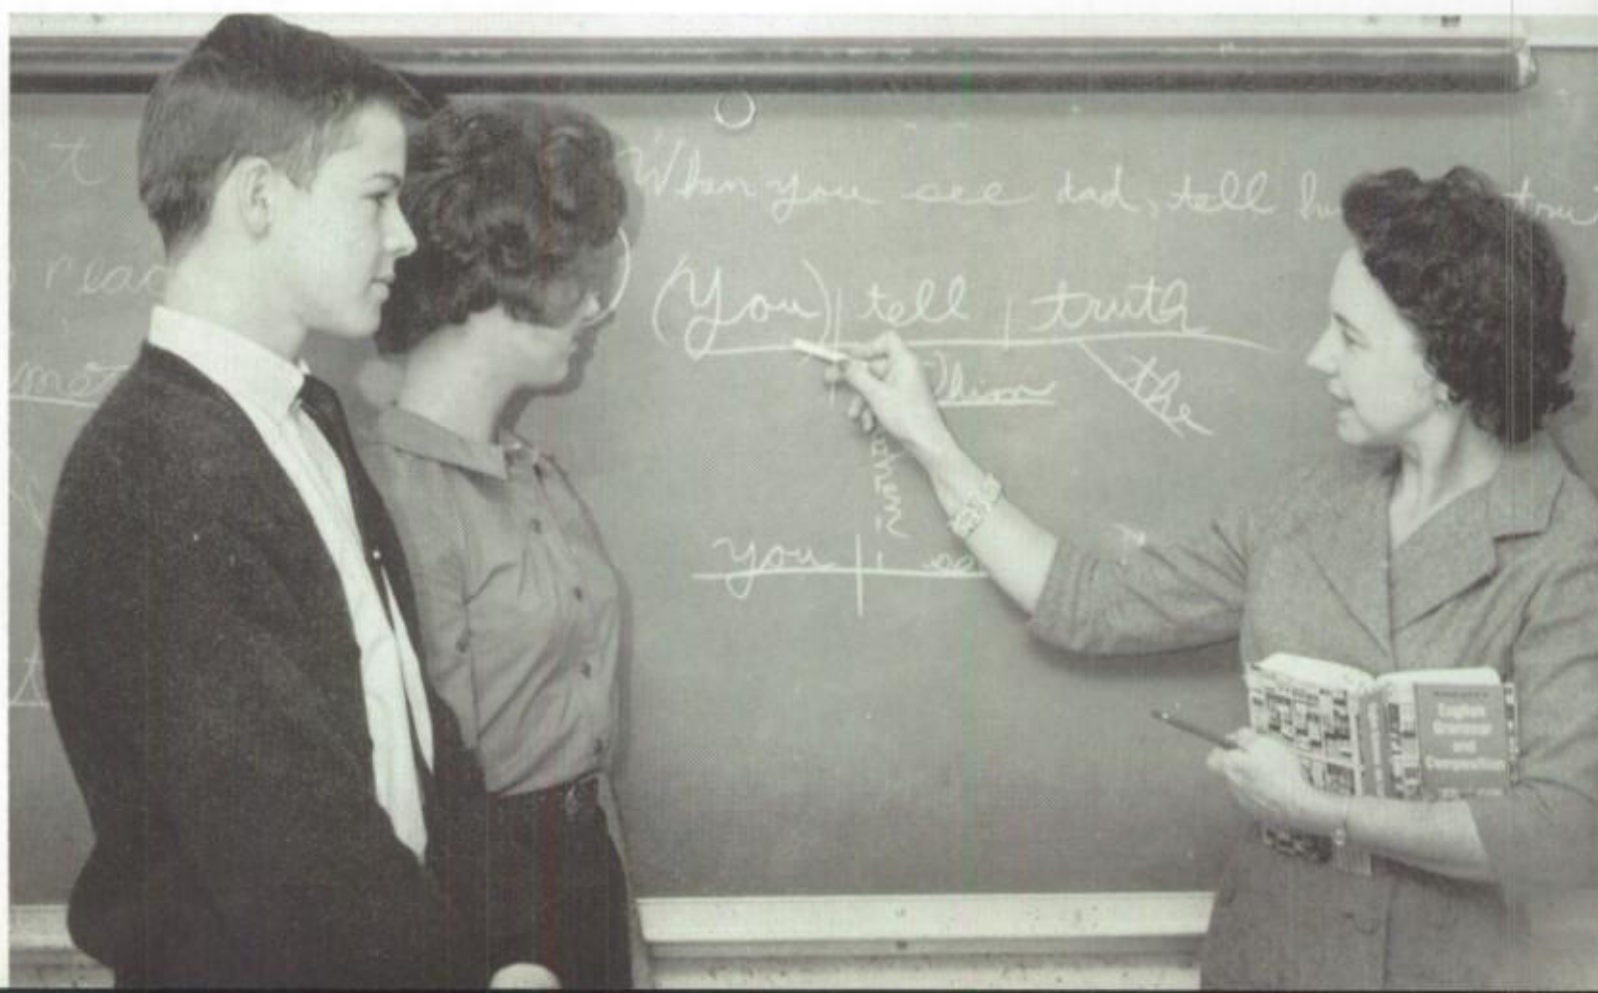

This "Tin Lizzie" gets a top to bottom going over by Mike Deacon, standing, Lee Hoalst, kneeling, and Eddie Adams lying on the dolly.

Miss Foster, Speech Director, and students Jeannine Gale, David Barrett and Susan Curtis, discuss their various parts in the Sophomore class play.

English, Speech, Aid Self-Expression

Mike Denney, Margaret Wyatt and Mrs. Ortloff diagram sentences in English.

Business

"The puick, brown foz — The quick, brown fox jumps over the lazy, gray dog." Practice makes perfect for Carol Rodgers.

Mathematics

"Can't we just look in an answer book?" ask Ron Walker and David Barrett of Math department head, Mrs. Matthews.

Cheerleaders Raise Memorial Spirit

Memorial's enthusiastic, school-spirited cheerleaders are, from top to bottom: Meg Holmgren, Linda Wager, Margaret Teel, Phyllis Whatley, Sue Ratcliffe, Janis Steele, Kathy Jackson, Barbie Slagle, and Jeri Clark. These perky girls help to keep our athletic teams, the Chargers, in there fighting.

Can't be all that bad can it, coach?

Meg Holmgren and Linda Wager boost spirits.

First Pep Club Builds Spirit

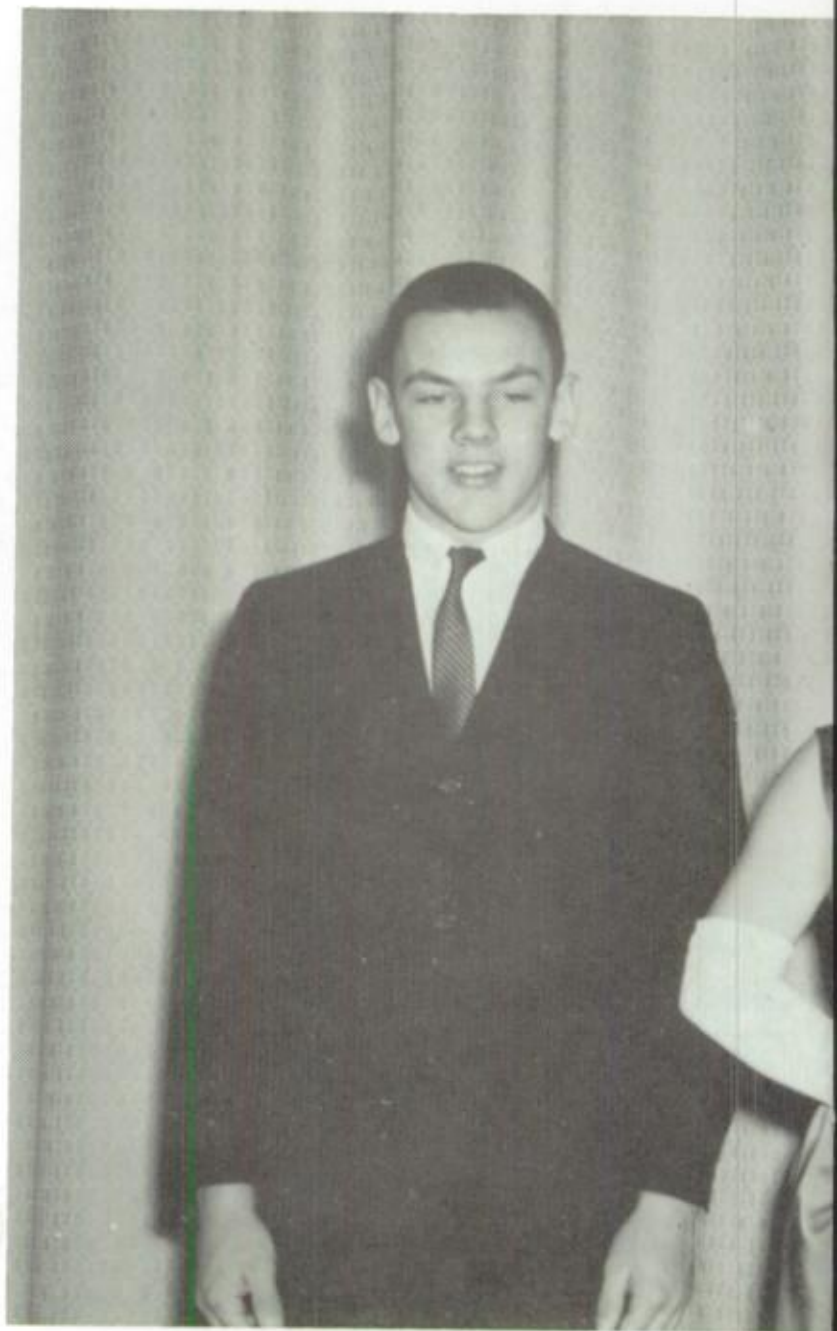

The pep club responds when the cheerleaders yell, "All for Memorial stand up and holler."

Harry Wood, Steve Deaton, Tom Cantrell attempt an impersonation of the cheerleaders.

Joan Dean delivers the campaign speech that won her the office of Student Council Treasurer.

Chargers' Choices and escorts: Robert Yapp, Barbie Slagle, Tom Terry, Sue Ratcliffe, Sue Gunderson, John Earl, Jeri Clark, Gene Buzard.

Student Council-The Governing Body

Officers: Tom Simpson, Vice President; Mrs. Ortloff, Sponsor; Don Wilcox, President; Margaret Teel, Secretary; Joan Dean, Treasurer.

The Student Council at Memorial offered the students the opportunity to participate in student government through the practice of democratic methods. The membership of the council consisted of the officers, four members-at-large, the vice president from each grade level, a representative from each school organization and a representative from each homeroom. The Student Council endeavored to promote good citizenship and sportsmanship, as well as a good school spirit, throughout the student body.

Red Cross

Memorial's High School Red Cross began in September with 14 participating home rooms. Throughout the school year, it has worked on various school, community and international projects. A majority of the student body enrolled this year in the American National Red Cross. Red Cross has fulfilled its obligation of benefit and service to all, without discrimination.

Cheerleaders: Slagle, Steele, Ratcliffe, Jackson, Wager, Teel, Clark, and Holmgren practice for a big game.

Gamma Sigma

Gamma Sigma stresses leadership, scholarship, and service. It was organized in order to serve the school by ushering at auditorium functions, helping the faculty, and managing the paperback bookstore. Twenty members were selected last fall on the basis of grades and character; the number was increased to twenty-five this spring and will be increased again after the beginning of school next year.

Masque and Gavel

Masque and Gavel is a national high school recognition society for the promotion of "Speech for Use." The society has a dual aspect; honor to the individual student, and service to the high school and the community. It is composed of those pupils who have demonstrated a mastery of the fundamentals of speech. Organized on December 5, 1962, Memorial's chapter is sponsored by Miss Joniel Foster.

Journalism and SCHOOL LIFE

Janice Davis, Debbie Wyse, Sherrill DuFour, Leslie Reis, Suzette Weaver, Katie Dains, Garnell Mobley.

Memorial's first journalism staff set up many precedents for the school. The inexperienced staff had to immediately start writing copy and meeting deadlines without previous newspaper experience. The staff met first hour in room 214 to write in addition to news stories, "Banner Lines", Memorial's column in Tulsa School Life published every other week; "Memo from Memorial", weekly column in Southside Times; and the bi-weekly radio report. Staff activities for the year have included field trips to Oklahoma State University convention, Tulsa University convention, and Education Service Center, where the paper is printed. Also the Memorial staff played host to the Tulsa Interscholastic Press Association. Journalism advisor, Mr. Dykes, is also coordinator of Tulsa School Life.

S P O R T S

Memorial's All Conference halfback, John Harris, brings down a pass in the Booker T. Washington game. This "mighty Charger punter" was also the scorer of our first touchdown.

John Harris and Jerry Clark battle against Booker T. Washington.

Memorial's first football team, composed entirely of sophomores and juniors, has proved to be one of which we are all extremely proud. Although there was a heavy rash of injuries that cut into the team's ranks, the boys didn't lose their spirit and desire to really fight for their school. We are all eagerly anticipating the coming season, for our Chargers will be even more successful now that they have experienced a year of competitive football.

Ken Wiginton practices for an upcoming game.

Terry Havens enthusiastically runs through the cheering lines of the Pep Club before boarding the bus for a game.

Jerry Clark prepares to receive a pass.

Our wrestling team, under the fine direction of Coach Lyle, has made definite progress in representing Memorial High School this season. The team was blessed with good individual performances but there was not enough over-all strength. Although the team didn't fare too well this year, most of the men will return for next year's squad, promising a better season.

Frank Graves exclaims, "Please Mother, I'd rather do it myself!"

The A-Squad wrestling team warms up for the Bristow Tournament.

Future

Tim Stein and Bob Winters, two of our most valuable basketball players, are practicing a jump shot. Under the leadership of Coach Dugger, the Memorial basketball team had a successful season against tough opposition. Although this was a building year, it shows real potential for the future.

Swimmers Earn First Trophy

During the 1962-1963 swimming season, the Chargers have set many records, including winning third place in the All City Meet. Through their hard work the boys have successfully improved their own records and goals. The greatest accomplishment this year was placing first in the Magic Empire Conference. We are all very proud of our Charger swimmers and the fine results they have produced for Memorial.

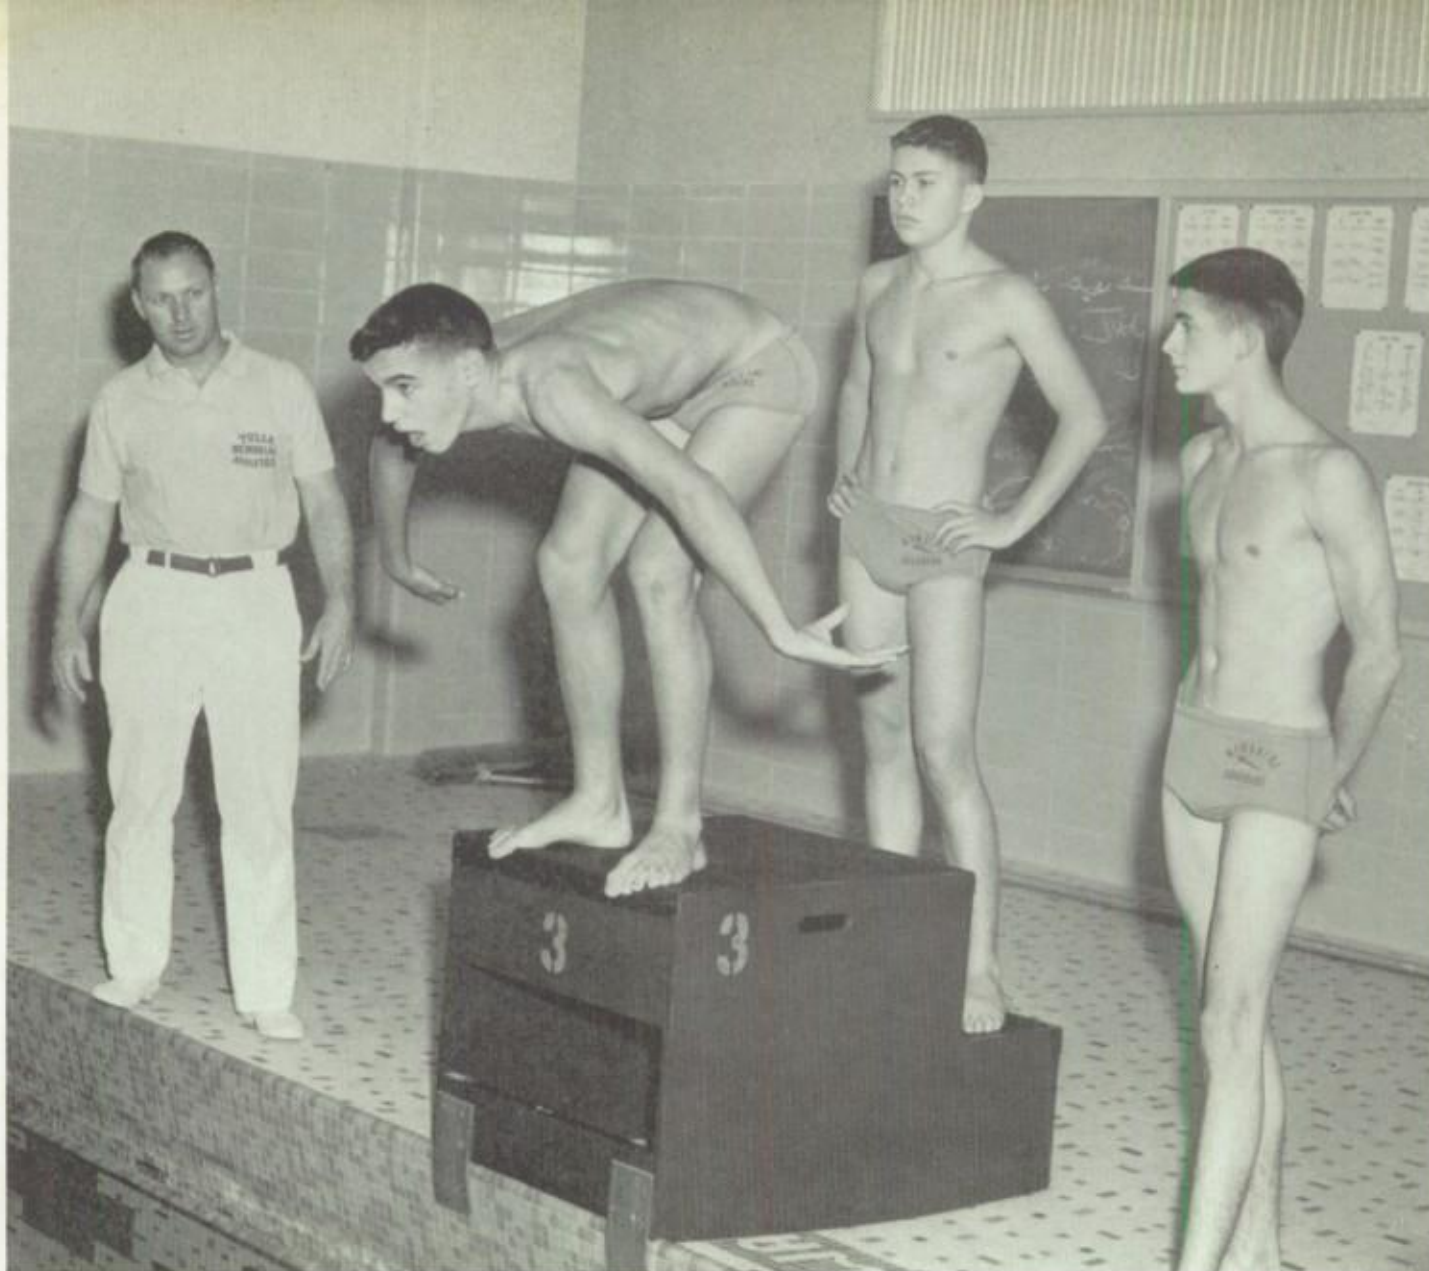

B-Squad: Steve Monchief, Robert Dyer, Bill Nance, George Daniels, Mike Deacon, Craig Fischer, David Wadley, Harold Steward, Chet Lenik, Don LaGrone.

Jerry Perigo scores an additional 5 points for another Charger victory.

Girls' Gym Develops Coordination

Starting in the fall with field hockey, the girls' physical education department offers many varied activities during the year. The sports develop not only the physical stamina of the girls, but the emotional qualities involved in sportsmanship and leadership as well.

Surfs, the Memorial girls' swimming club, is designed to develop grace and poise for the girls by performing synchronized swimming skills. In preparation for their first water show, "Sounds of the Seasons", the girls have practiced many hours in the early morning.

This has been a good year — one on which we can look back with pride. Most of us will return next year and it will be an equally good one; we will be equally proud. Yet it won't be quite the same. There can be only one "first" year and Memorial's is almost over. Memorial is, in reality, our school and so it will remain throughout its existence. Future students will sit at our desks and walk down our stairways. They will wear our colors and sing our songs. Their footsteps will fall where ours have been; their voices will mingle with the echoes of our own. We have made Memorial what it is; we have set the foundations for what it will be.
